

Clean energy challenges await returning policymakers: Week in Review

[...]

The 26 institutions covered by the analysis have financed a total of $US425 billion in clean energy investment since 2007.

Clean energy stocks again performed well in the public markets last week. The WilderHill New Energy Global Innovation Index, or NEX, which tracks 98 clean energy companies, rose 2.4 per cent, again beating broader market indices such as the S&P 500 Index and Nasdaq Composite Index.

[...]

Read more: <http://www.smh.com.au/business/carbon-economy/clean-energy-challenges-await-returning-policymakers-week-in-review-20130918-2txyv.html>